COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY-DECEMBER. 27, 1921.

NUMBER 10

The Christmas Recital

This interesting program was carried out at the Lindsey-Wilson Chapel last Tuesday, and was very entertaining from start to finish. It was given by pupils of the Music and Expression Departments of this well-known institution, and those who were on the program not only did honor to themselves, but their renditions reflected much credit upon the teachers. There were about twenty-five pupils in both classes, making the program long, but it was so interesting that the large audience remained until all the numbers were given.

The readings and selections played showed that talent was not lacking in the Lindsey-Wilson, and it also evinced that Miss Lucile Bushong and Miss Katie Murrell had not neglected their duties.

When pupils play from memory 'difficult pieces of music without making mistakes an audience sees that they have been at work.

The small children who had parts did surprisingly well and their parents were overjoyed. John Murrell, Jr., brought down the house, and Geo. Staples, Jr., also had a very pleasing selection, and also all the other little ones.

Misses Ava Lockard and Frances Strange had difficult pieces, and they were played faultlessly. Miss Strange also gave a reading, "The Christmas Star," which was highly appreciated. The rendition showed that the young lady did not lack for talent in this very popular line. Miss Ethel Garrett, in her usual happy style pleased the audience, as did Miss Lucile Winfrey, both young ladies reciting charmingly. Miss Fred Harrison, who had a good selection, gave it admirably. Little Louise Bennett played like a grown person. Misses Rena Garnett and Frances Ballou opened the exercises with a duet, and their playing was highly complimented. A trio, by Margaret Hynes, Sadie Mullinix and Gladys Ingram was performed charmingly. "Where are You Going Young Fellow, My Lad?" was given happily by Miss Mary Wood Judd. Love Dreams, by Margaret Clayton, and the reading, "Of Old Glory," by Kenneth Wells were delightfully received. The reading of Miss Margaret Royce was humorous and it kept her hearers in smiles. "My Ships; Sandy's Romance" by Miss Zora Edna Bell, was given in a most acceptable manner—very much enjoyed, and the playing of her sister, Miss Mary Oriana Bell, was charming.

"Little Boy Blue" was given in a most attractive manner by Miss Dorris Wilson. The Flower Girl, played by Miss Alta Barbee, was well executed and the young lady received many compliments. Frank Turney and Miss Josephine Turney pleased the audience with their readings. Lynn Phelps convinced the assembly that he was a young violinist. All went home as a trio by Misses Ava Lockard, Mary Oriana Bell and Gladys Frazer.

A Home Wedding.

Last Thursday afternoon, at the beautiful home, near Zion, of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Garnett, their oldest daughter, Miss Allie Garnett, was happily married to Mr. W. J. Cundiff, one of Adair county's best young men, Rev. R. V. Bennett being the officiating minister. The ceremony was solemn and very impressive. Only relatives and a few close friends were present. Both the bride and groom were most elegantly attired.

The bride is a very popular young woman and for several years she has been a very efficient teacher, her services at all times being in demand. No better young lady in Adair county, nor one who commanded more friends.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Cundiff, who own and live on what is known as the Harris farm, one mile from Columbia. He is a young man of sterling character, full of energy and is popular throughout the county of Adair.

Soon after the rites had been solemnized the couple left for the home of the groom's parents where they were joyfully received by father, mother, brothers and sisters, and where a most elegant and bountiful supper was spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Cundiff will at once begin housekeeping in the residence near the middle bridge and on the same farm. They have received many beautiful and useful presents.

The Associates of this popular couple desire to extend their best wishes, trusting that they will be permitted to live many years together in unalloyed bliss.

The Old Kentucky Home.

Quite a bit has been written in the last few weeks about a proposed "Old Kentucky Home," to be erected on the State Fair Grounds, Louisville. It is to be built after an old time building and out of logs and timber furnished by the different counties of the State. If the timber owners of the various counties will signify a willingness to furnish the logs, etc., the old Kentucky home will become a reality. It will be furnished with antique furniture and will be made a most inviting place. It is to be used as a museum and all old relics that have been stored away for years will be very acceptable. When completed it will be the most attractive place in Louisville. A committee in each county will take the lead, and every county that will contribute a log is cordially asked to do so. It is also urged that families look around for old relics and have them ready to send. They will be cared for with a watchful eye. This is an enterprise out of the ordinary and every body should use their best efforts to make it a go. Who will take the lead in Adair County?

Just received a car load of wire fencing. Prices right. 9-21 Davis Hardware Co.

Do You Believe in Santa--We Do.

Not in a literal sense, but as an emblem of that spirit of kindly regard—that incentive to mutual wishing that draws humanity closer together. With that thought in mind we want to extend our most grateful thanks to the many who have remembered us, wishing them happiness and prosperity, not only for the remaining days of Christmas, but for the entire year of 1922. Especially do we thank our friend in Buffalo, New York, and the one in Altus, Okla. They are far away, but their friendship is as true as is the needle to the pole.

Beginning with the New Year we hope that our correspondents will send their letters oftener than they have done in the past year. We think that some of them have a mistaken idea as to the character of matter to write. They should make it a point to send items that will be of interest to the people who live in the neighborhood of the correspondent. They fail to send the news that would be of interest to their own section, thinking that it would not be of sufficient interest. Talk and tell the needs of your own section.

Mr. S. W. Royce, who lives at Roy, one of the oldest and best known citizens in Adair county, has been in very poor health for the last five or six weeks. While he was reared outside of Columbia, when he was a young man he spent his leisure time about town. The young men were fond of him, as he was jovial and very companionable. All the boys that he used to play the violin for their pleasure have long since gone to the happy hunting ground.

A little excitement last Friday morning when the fire alarm sounded and the announcement that Mr. J. H. Young's dwelling was on fire. The engine hurried out, and upon reaching the Young residence the crew discovered no sign of fire and the family making preparations for breakfast. Later it developed that a fire at J. A. Young's residence was burning. The alarm was given out from the Lindsey-Wilson, saying Mr. Young's house was on fire.

A new County Judge and a new County Attorney and several new members of the Fiscal Court will be sworn in the first Monday in January. There have been much road building talked during the past four years, but little has been done. The incoming County Judge and County Attorney will now be given an opportunity to see what they can do. We hope that a way will be found to better the conditions in road building. A County can not prosper without good roads.
